Riu Resort Overview:

Located in Baja Peninsula South, the Hotel Riu Palace Baja California boasts beautiful views of the Sierra de la Laguna Mountains, white sand beaches and turquoise water. This all-inclusive resort features swimming pools with fresh water, Jacuzzi, solarium-terrace, gym, sauna, steam bath and the wellness center, Renova Spa, with different kinds of treatments and massages. There are numerous sports and activities available at the resort. You can participate in diving, volleyball, gymnastics, windsurfing, catamaran, kayak, body board, golf and a lot of aquatic sports at the beach. At night, don't miss the different shows and live music that their entertainers have prepared for you.

While the nightlife in San Jose del Cabo centers around the restaurants and large hotels, Cabo San Lucas is the party capital of Los Cabos, where you'll find a wide variety of nightclubs as well as casual and fine dining options, if not a few celebrity sightings. Few places can compete with the nightlife that Cabo San Lucas offers with its dozens of restaurants, discos, clubs, and bars. Known as the Sport Fishing capital of the world, Cabo is home to many big game fish, particularly marlin. The marina at Cabo San Lucas hosts sailfish, swordfish, marlin and Dorado fishing tournaments yearly. In Los Cabos you can admire one of the most extraordinary natural phenomena to occur on Mexico's coasts: the courtship process of the gray whale. It is estimated that 20,000 of these whales migrate to the Mexican coast each year.
